The Guardian ad Litem Program of the Council for Children's Rights investigates and determines the needs of abused and neglected children. You can become a part of this rewarding program that seeks solutions for children during a very difficult, stressful and sometimes fearful time in their lives. The Guardian ad Litem volunteer attorneys and community volunteers receive intensive training covering various aspects of this specialized program, including: the juvenile court process; guidelines for representing children; gathering information; and reporting to the court. This seminar is for attorneys who are interested in pro bono representation of children, as well as paralegals and other community members who are interested in serving as advocates for children. (Note that attorney representation does not require courtroom experience or first chair courtroom participation.) This training is required for all Guardian ad Litem volunteers. We have applied for 6.0 hours of general and 1.0 hour of ethics CLE or CPE for attorneys and paralegals.
